PLAYSMART

To help you make the right purchasing choices, here's a complete list of Mature-rated games in this issue of Code Vault:

Castlevania: Lament of Innocence
By Konami • PS2

You won't find any foul language or sexual content in Castlevania: Lament of Innocence, but there's plenty of blood. Defeated monsters meet their demise in puddles of blood, which is frequently splashed against walls. The main character, Leon, does a fair amount of bleeding when he is struck, and some bosses and monsters scream and writhe in agony when they die.

Grand Theft Auto Double Pack
By Rockstar Games • PS2, Xbox

Grand Theft Auto Double Pack is definitely geared toward adult gamers with a car-jacking theme and a wide variety of weapons to use in your "profession." The game also has a fair share of blood, gore, and colorful dialogue that's oriented more toward older gamers as almost anything goes while you strive to be a "model" employee in the car-theft world.

Mace Griffin Bounty Hunter
By Black Label Games • Xbox

Mace Griffin Bounty Hunter may take place generations into the future, but weird-looking creatures still bleed red and can be eliminated by one shot to the head. Splattering of body parts after a harsh explosion only accentuates Bounty Hunter's violent content.

Resident Evil 3: Nemesis
By Capcom • GameCube

Just because it's on the system that's best known for Mario and other cute family characters, Resident Evil 3 isn't for younger players. This game has a lot of blood and gore. Most of the plasma that's spilled, though, is that of your adversaries, who consist of monsters and other unreal creatures. Nevertheless, this game—similar to others in the series—would be very scary for younger or more impressionable gamers.

Soldier of Fortune II: Double Helix
By Activision • Xbox

Based on the mercenary magazine of the same name, the Soldier of Fortune series is known for serious gore (unless you choose to turn it off, expect lots of blood and plenty of dismemberment). You can target specific limbs and shoot guns out of enemies' hands, among other things. The weapons are realistic, and so is the violence.

Tenchu: Wrath of Heaven
By Activision • PS2

In Tenchu: Wrath of Heaven, you don the mask of a highly trained assassin who specializes in bladed weapons. Of course, this leads to mucho bloodletting, and gallons upon gallons of arterial spray accompany most kills. You'll also have to stick it to guard dogs, which could upset some of the young folks out there.

Note: Some box art may not display final ESRB ratings.

ESRB Ratings

The interactive electronic entertainment industry uses a rating system developed by the Entertainment Software Rating Board (ESRB). Here's a quick key to the most common ratings; for a complete description, visit www.esrb.org or call 800/771-3772 for more information.

Mature (M): Appropriate for older gamers, generally 17 and up. Mature-rated games may contain more intense depictions of violence, stronger language, and, on rare occasions, sexual themes.

Teen (T): Suitable for ages 13 and up. These games could have violent content, strong language, and/or suggestive themes.

Everyone (E): Content is suitable for persons ages six and older. These titles will appeal to people of many ages and tastes. They may contain minimal violence, comic mischief, or crude language.

READER TIP OF THE MONTH

Final Fantasy Tactics Advance

Unlock Eldena the Red Mage

To get Eldena, you need to first get the Dragon Bone mission item by completing Mission #172: Frozen Spring. Then complete Mission #123: Hungry Ghost to get the Elda's Cup mission item. If you take the Elda's Cup mission item with you on a mission, Eldena will ask to join you when the mission is cleared.

Madden NFL 2004

Create a Super Player for Cheap

In Owner mode, the salary cap is automatically turned on. When creating new players with attributes at 99, signing them as part of your team poses problems because of the cap. To get around this, simply create a new player as you normally would until you get to the Attributes section. Leave the attributes at 50 and then place the player in the free agents section. When signing the free agent, sign him to a low-dollar, seven-year contract. Return to the editing players screen and re-access the Attributes section. Readjust the attributes to 99. The end result is a $30 million player that you just signed for about $1.2 million.

Soul Calibur II

Soul Edge Complete for All Characters

Complete the last stage of Chapter 9 on both the Normal and Extra Mission difficulty settings to unlock Extra Chapter 1. Select the newly unlocked chapter and then pause the game. Select Shop, and you should be able to purchase the Soul Edge Complete for every character. If you run out of gold, there's a stage in Chapter 9 with a bonus condition that yields lots of gold.

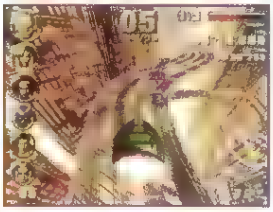
F-Zero GX



Unlock Features

Dark Schneider: Successfully complete the game in Story mode to unlock Dark Schneider (Deathborn's vehicle).

Diamond Cup: Finish the Ruby, Sapphire, and Emerald Cups in first place on the Standard or Expert difficulty setting to unlock the Diamond Cup.

Master Class: Finish the Ruby, Sapphire, and Emerald Cups in first place on the Expert difficulty setting to unlock the Master Class.

WWE SmackDown! Shut Your Mouth

Easy Way To Get a Title Shot

Start a new season with someone without a title (The Rock, Rhyno, etc.) and play until Backlash. If you're not in any of the matches, start in the corridor and go to the VIP room. Tell your owner you want a title shot. He'll ask you what your Star Point total is and what title you're going after. Select one, and then you'll be in a title match!

Infinite Finishers in a Singles Match

Note: This works only if someone interferes with your match

Start the match. Sometimes an interferer comes in. Leave the ring, run up to one of the announcing tables, and start taunting while the interferer pounds your opponent. When you have the number of finishers you wish, return to the ring. Soon enough, the interferer sends your opponent back into the ring.

Infinite Finishers in a Tag Match

If you're in the ring first at the start of the match, knock your opponent to the ground. Next, tag your partner, leave the ring, and then go on the ropes. Here are a couple methods that work:

- Stay on the ropes and taunt. This gives you double SmackDown points for taunting and some for just being on the ropes.
- Move off the ropes and beat your opponent's partner off the ropes. This way, your partner can work on the same guy without them tagging, and if your partner pulls a SmackDown move and goes for a pin, the opponent's partner isn't there to break the pin. These methods work in a six-man tag if you're skilled, but they do not work in a tornado tag.

Play on Sunday Night Heat

Note: This works only in Season mode

Make up any male wrestler in Create mode. When you're finished, go to Season mode and then go to Entry Superstar. Go all the way down the list until you see your made-up wrestler. Move the cursor onto him and press ×. His picture should be highlighted—when it is, press ○ and then move the cursor up to Decision and press ×. Start a new season. If you did everything correctly, you can start a new season with your made-up wrestler. You will then start on Heat and end up with whomever drafted you.

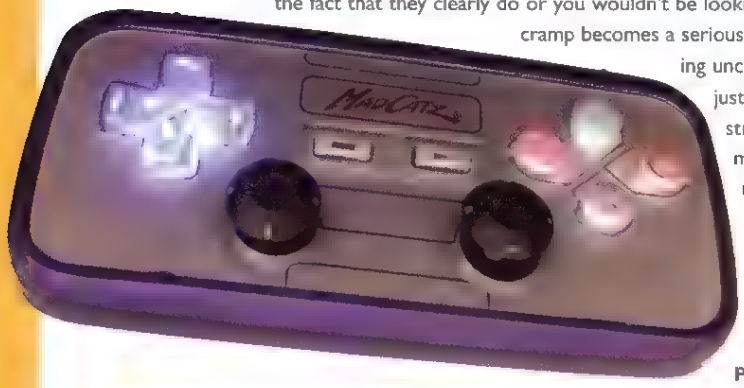
Which gadgets make your games better—and which ones don't?

Mad Catz RetroCon

Rating: 4.0



After one look at the RetroCon, only one question pops to mind: Damn, why don't they make controllers like that anymore? Well, besides the fact that they clearly do or you wouldn't be looking at it, your question will be answered when you play a game with it. Hand cramp becomes a serious concern with the RetroCon—and yet, like a prom date who insists on wearing uncomfortable shoes because they match her dress perfectly, the fatigue factor just doesn't matter because everything else about the controller is so cool. The straight-outta-1985 styling harkens back to the NES but with modern appointments like twin analog joysticks and a (very loud, buzzy) vibration feedback motor—not to mention buttons and a directional pad that glow blue while the Mad Catz logo shines red. It's obviously suited for retro and arcade-style gaming, but it performed well on THPS4 (though the side-by-side L1/L2/R1/R2 shoulder buttons took a little getting used to), and the directional pad is among the best ever on any controller. Get one and play through the pain, you new-school wimp.—Bad Hare

Logitech Extreme Action Controller

Rating: 4.5

The finest sports cars feature leather-wrapped steering wheels; why shouldn't your hot rod offer the same luxury? Yes, the first PS2 controller with leather palm pads (instead of rubber or none at all) is here, complete with gold connector pins for superior contact. Asinine? Arrogant? No, just awesome—Logitech doesn't make crap, and this controller also features excellent ergonomic sculpting (wider than a Dual Shock, it's more comfortable for long periods of use), a two-speed assignable turbo function, and a beefy directional pad that won't leave you wondering which way you're pointing. It also works great (the furious button manipulation in SSX 3 was no problem) and looks even better. It's a slick, executive controller for the scruffy, disheveled gamer on your list who wants to feel like a slick executive.—Bad Hare

Price: $24.99. Contact: Logitech, 800/231-7717, logitech.com

RedOctane Metal Pad

Rating: 5.0

If you're serious about Dance Dance Revolution, RedOctane's Metal Pad is more like a precious metal pad—worth its 40-pound weight in gold. Small LEDs light up on the edges of the arrows with each step, and the flexible, arcade-sized plastic panels have impressive "give"—they almost feel spring-loaded. With a nonslip foam bottom and a heavy steel frame, this baby ain't going anywhere when you stomp on it. The tethered control box leads out to a PS2 plug, but the unit was designed with future Xbox compatibility in mind, too—why buy an all-new pad when all you'll have to do is plug in a different front end for this one? The price might seem steep, but your only other option anywhere near RedOctane in terms of quality, feel, and performance is a real DDR machine—and if you have $7000 to spend on one, hey, enjoy. Otherwise, seek this out.—Dan Elektro

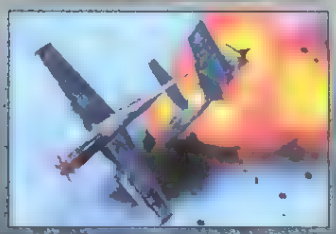
Achtung!

Hauptmann – Ihr Flugzeug brennt*

*[illegible]



The fortunes of German pilots everywhere are about to take a severe downturn. In this intense WWII flight-action game, from Secret Weapons of Luftwaffe,® TIE-Fighter,® and X-Wing® creator Lawrence Holland, you'll join a secret, elite fighter squadron. Your mission: thwart the most insidious plans of the Third Reich. Over Europe and other theaters, you'll pilot nearly two dozen authentic aircraft, and face over 30 air-to-air and air-to-ground combat scenarios. And you won't need any flight training. Just nerves of steel, a steady hand, and a burning desire to rid the world of tyranny, one mission at a time.

Need for Speed Underground

Fine-tune your driving skills with insider hints and pointers directly from the Underground crew. Just make sure you don't swerve off the road anymore.

By Need for Speed Underground Producers Scott Probin and Greg Uhler

Racing Tips

Drag Racing

Perfect Shift
Being able to launch the car at the beginning of the race is extremely important

Launch RPMS
RWD, AWD, and FWD have different optimal shift points

Drafting
Drafting is when you drive close enough to the car in front and you enter its vacuum, which has the positive effect of pulling your car forward, enabling you to slingshot past it. Learn this skill!

Dodging Cross Traffic
Avoid cross traffic by trying to go behind it, not in front of it.

Drift Racing

Using a "feint-turn" or "rally-turn" (turning the opposite direction) just before a corner allows you to maintain your speed and rotates the car into a slide.

RWD Cars
Be careful with the throttle during a drift. Use too much, and you'll spin the car; too little, and you'll go too slow and end your slide.

AWD Cars
Tap the emergency brake lightly when entering a drift and stay on the gas as the power from all four wheels will pull you through the drift

FWD Cars
Tap the emergency brake a lot to get the car to kick the rear end out (even mid-drift) and stay on the gas as the front tires will pull the car along

Miscellaneous Tips

- Memorize the tracks and use as much of each corner as possible.
- There's no time limit, so just concentrate on sliding
- Long, fast drifts give you more points than slow, short ones, so try to maintain your speed throughout the track.
- As you upgrade your car and it gets faster, be careful that you don't enter corners too fast—it may be a sharp turn. Try starting your drift earlier and sliding into the corner rather than during the corner.
- The best cars to drift with are the AWD vehicles.

Visual Upgrades

Visual Upgrades boost your Reputation in the following order of priority:
1) Front Bumper/Rear Bumper
2) Hood/Spoiler/Side Skirts/Rims
3) Paint
4) Neon
5) Window Tinting

Circuit Tracks

Note: In general, the tips and shortcuts in the Circuit Tracks also apply to the Sprint Tracks

Atlantica

Forward = Counterclockwise

1. Be careful exiting the spillway, don't come out too fast, or your car will launch into the air
2. Drive into oncoming traffic for a shortcut.
3. Change back to the correct side of the road here
4. Take this turn wide and approach it from the wrong side of the road
5. Only take this shortcut with slower cars. You lose too much speed with faster cars.
6. This S-curve is hard to take at high speeds.
7. Stick to the inside of the turn.

Reverse = Clockwise

5. Always take this shortcut.

Market Street

Forward = Clockwise

1. You can gain valuable time if you take a wide approach to this turn.
2. Stick to the right s de of the road to avoid the train (it approaches from the left)
3. Always take the Market shortcut
4. Do not take this shortcut
5. Set yourself up through this S-curve to gain time.
6. Use heavy braking here to avoid smacking the wall on the exit
7. Only take this shortcut in slower cars. It's tough, though!
8. Only take this shortcut (through the mall) in fast cars. You can maintain more speed going the long way
9. Take this shortcut in slower cars; it's tough in faster cars
10. You need to be going at least 70 mph to make the jump
11. The shortcut through the gas station is very tough to judge, but try to take it!

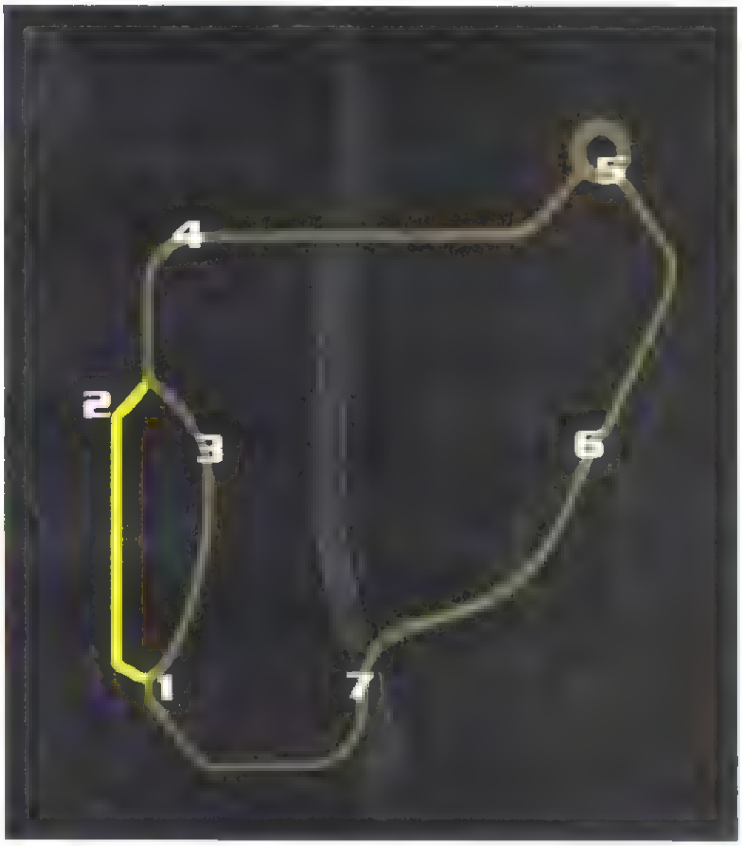
Reverse = Counterclockwise

11. The shortcut through the gas station is much easier to take in reverse
9. Take this shortcut in slower cars. It's tough to judge in faster cars
8. Take this shortcut (through the mall) here. You can maintain more speed going the long way
4. Take this shortcut if you can, but it's tough!
2. Stick to the left side of the road to avoid the train (it approaches from the left)

National Rail

Forward = Clockwise

1. The entrance to the shortcut is here
2. Only experts should attempt this shortcut
3. Thread the needle through the S-curves
4. Approach this corner wide, and you can carry a lot of speed through it
5. Approach this corner with caution!
6. You'll save seconds if you take the left-hand option (against traffic)
7. Find the optimal line between the tunnel supports



Olympic Square

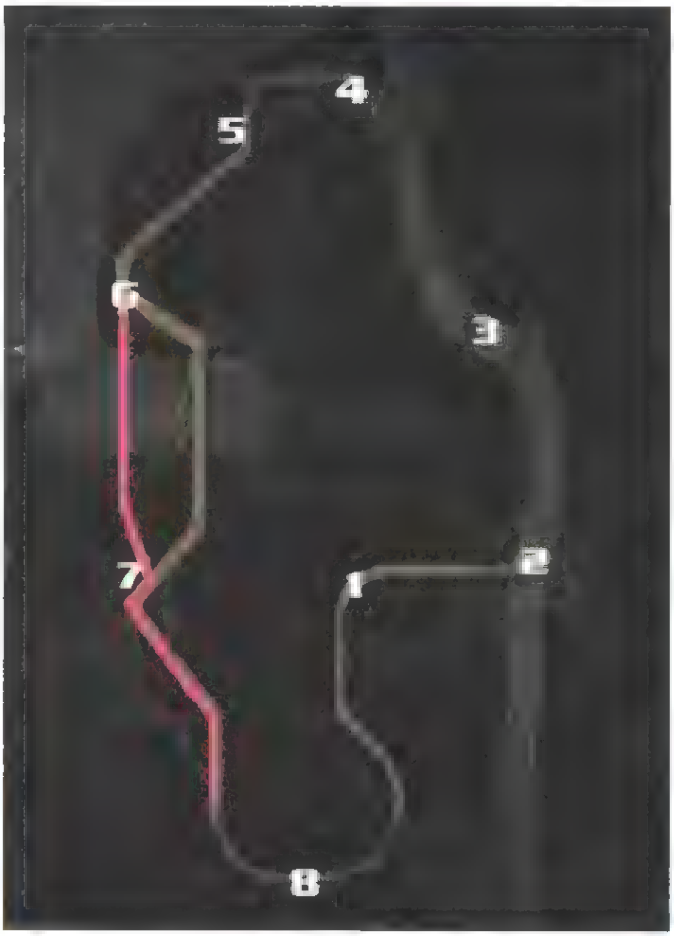
Forward = Counterclockwise

1. Watch for oncoming traffic on the inside of this turn. Adjust your speed to remain on the correct side of the road
2. Always take this shortcut.
3. Use the underground parking lot to avoid traffic.
4. This corner can be taken at high speeds if approached correctly.
5. The red line is the quickest path for fast cars. The yellow line is quickest for slow cars.
6., 7. These are entrances to the shortcut.
8. S-curve through the construction and watch out for smackable objects.
9. Nail this S-curve.

Port Royal

Forward = Counterclockwise

1. Approach this corner wide, and you can carry a lot of speed through it.
2. Watch your speed entering the spillway.
3. Go through the pillars and set up the approach to the next corner.
4. Watch your speed exiting the spillway and stick to the inside of the ramp.
5. This S-curve can be taken at high speed with the correct approach angle
6. The red line shows the fastest route
7. Take this shortcut.
8. This corner can be taken at full speed.



Stadium

Forward = Counterclockwise

1. Approach this corner with caution at the beginning of the race, but use maximum speed all other times
2. Take the upper deck (with traffic)
3. Thread the needle through the freeway supports
4. Thread the needle through the freeway supports
5. Keep a close eye on your speed and don't overcompensate here, the road is extremely rough
6. Approach the jump going at least 70 mph

Reverse = Clockwise

1. Approach this corner with speed as you'll need it to get up to the next section of the track
3. Unless you're an expert driver, take the route with traffic

Terminal

Forward = Counterclockwise

1. Approach this corner with caution: it's almost a 90-degree turn
2. This corner requires some slight braking with one of the faster cars
3. Watch out for smackable objects in the construction area of this track
4. Set yourself up here. It's an S-curve followed by a sharp right turn; thread the needle through the S-curve to ready yourself for the next corner
5. Find the optimal route through the tunnel pillars to save seconds
6. Stick to the road. The dirt is bumpy and will cost you valuable time
7. Setting yourself up for the Skate Park Jump is tough but it can save time

Castlevania: Lament of Innocence

The latest installment in the Castlevania saga is filled with tough bosses. In this ProStrategy Guide, we show you how to defeat all the bosses in the game and list some of the most valuable items dropped by monsters. By Major Mike

Essential Basic Skills

Guarding

Restore MP

One essential technique in Lament of Innocence is Guarding. Not only does Guarding protect you from harm, but it also restores some of your MP. Whenever an attacker glows purple before striking, that Guarded attack restores some MP. If you Guard a normal physical attack, no MP is restored; if you Guard a magic attack, some MP will be restored. If you execute a Perfect Guard (tap R1 right before an attack hits), a lot of MP will be restored—even if it's a physical attack. Some boss attacks can be deflected only if you successfully execute a Perfect Guard against them.

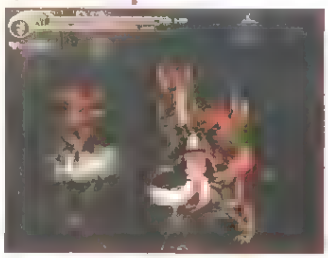
Knock Back Enemies

A Perfect Guard can also knock some attackers flat on their backs. Enemies that use strong physical attacks (such as the Merman) are more susceptible to fall over than others are. Once an enemy is successfully knocked down, immediately go on the offensive and finish it off.

Knock Down Kick

Another way to knock down foes is to jump or double-jump in the air directly above them and then tap Attack-big. If executed correctly, you'll strike them on the head with a flaming kick and knock them down... however some monsters will take damage, but remain standing.

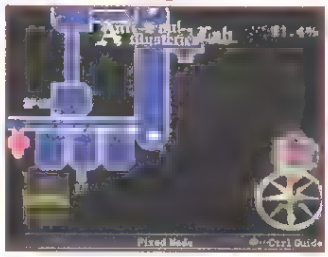
Quick Step



One key Skill you should master is the Quick Step (press and hold R1 and then simultaneously tap Jump and press in any direction on the left analog stick). Once you've unlocked this Skill (and later the Quick Step 2 and Step Attack), you can quickly dodge incoming attacks and then immediately counterattack.

Boss Battles

Anti-Soul Mysteries Lab



Before you take on the Flame Elemental, wait until you've obtained the Vampire Killer whip and the Ring of Fire (the Ring should be equipped as an Accessory). It also helps to have the Knife as a Sub-Weapon, the Purple Orb activated (for Magic Missile), and White Bishop for a Relic.

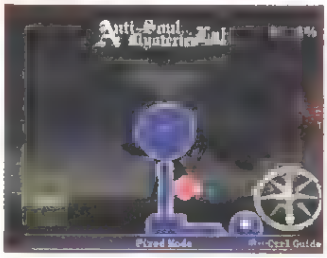
The Flame Elemental is in a secret room on 2F. When you enter the large oval-shaped room to the east, jump onto the southernmost platform against the east wall (there's a Potion on it), and then use your whip to latch onto the nearby poles extruding from the wall to the south. At the end of the line is a "boss door," but with a green flame behind it.

Flame Elemental

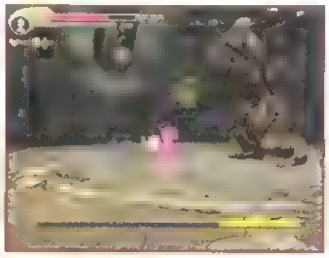
Mastering the Quick Step is essential to winning this fight. Draw Flame toward you as he swings his sword, Quick Step away from him, and then counterattack with a combo after his third swing (he should be hunched over). You can also dodge the first two swings, block the third one, and then counter.

Whenever you're fleeing Flame, jump into the air and execute a Magic Missile attack to pick away at his energy.

Golem



The Golem is one of the tougher bosses to defeat, and it resides in an arena on 2F. It helps to have the White Bishop equipped as a Relic.



Golem relies entirely on physical attacks, all of which can be blocked but only with a Perfect Guard. Golem has two forms—the first has two arms, the second has one. In the first form, you have three attacks to watch for. First, if you get too close, Golem will swing each arm in a wide arc, and don't be fooled—he has a longer range than you think. Getting hit by one of these propels you across the room.

When Golem jumps high in the air, he sends out a visible shockwave on the ground that inflicts paralysis if it connects. You can jump over the wave or block it with a Perfect Guard. If you jump, be sure to hit Golem with an A Extension Ski as you descend

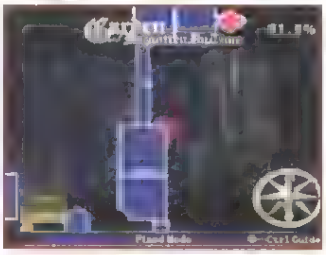
The third type of attack comes when Golem slams both fists on the ground and causes rocks to rain from above. During this first form, pick away at Golem from a distance using Attack-big whip snaps

After depleting Golem's life bar, one of his arms fall off and a second life bar appears. Golem's vulnerable on the right side of his body—the red glowing area to be exact

Golem is now limited to two attacks, a now-one-armed swing and a new projectile punch where he launches his fist at you. Look for Golem to stand still and point his fist in your direction as if he were targeting you—when he does this, keep moving with consecutive Quick Steps

The attack should miss, and Golem's arm gets stuck in the wall. While he struggles to free it, jump toward the monster and perform A Extension attacks on the right side of his body

Garden Forgotten by Time



You can find a secret passageway that leads to the Thunder Elemental on floor 1F. Use the man-eating plant as a stepping stone to jump on the ledge in the northeast corner of the room as shown in the above screen. Go through the following passageways, and you should eventually end up at flaming green door. Before you go through the door, equip the Ring of Thunder (if you have it) as an Accessory.

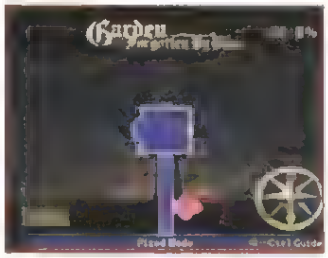
Thunder Elemental

Thunder Elemental attacks in a similar fashion to the Flame Elemental. Again, Quick Stepping is the key to victory: Dodge Thunder's staff swing, and after the third swing, counter-attack with a combo

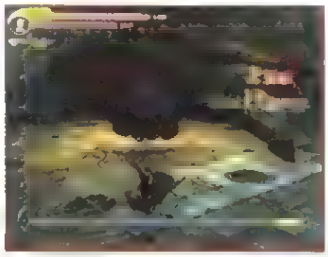
One of Thunder's varying attacks is to launch himself high in the air—an action that's followed by him hitting the ground with a lightning storm. Don't try to jump the attack—Guard against it instead

A second attack to be aware of is when thin traces of vertical lightning descend from the sky. When you see the traces, keep moving as the thin streaks quickly become powerful lightning strikes

Medusa



The battle against Medusa takes place on 1F in the large room to the northeast



As was the case with the optional Elemental bosses, mastering the Quick Step is essential when dealing with this floating-head horror. Medusa starts with lashes from both sides of her head—you can block the first one, but the second one will always connect; Quick Stepping out of the line of fire works best

Perhaps Medusa's deadliest attack is when she screams, "Turn to stone!" and then fires beams from her eyes. If you don't block or dodge these beams, you'll turn into stone, and Medusa will curl into a ball and run over you.

When Medusa hovers in the air and turns her face to the ground, get close to her and execute an A Extension skill. Do not stand under her—if you do, you'll take serious damage from the snakes that rain from her mouth

Medusa's final attack occurs when flying stones encircle her head and then are flung at you. Again, Quick Step is the best tactic to use because if you block one incoming stone, the second, third, and fourth ones are always sure to strike

House of Sacred Remains

You can find the Undead Parasite on B1F. Try to have the Cross as a Sub-Weapon

Undead Parasite

Although it's tempting, the worm that floats around the screen isn't your target. Focus your attacks on the eyeballs in the ground first, preferably using the Extension skill that you should have learned by now. To inflict as much damage as possible, activate Cross magic, stand next to one of the eyeballs, and slash away at it (the magic should also keep various Soulless from attacking). A total of four eyes must be destroyed

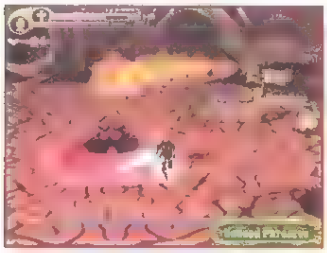
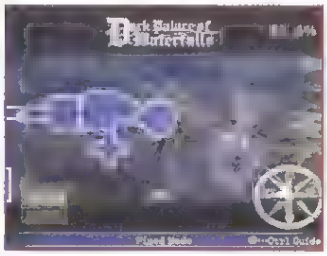
After the eyes are gone, a smal mushroomlike monster appears at random in any of the four sockets where the eyes were or in the hole in the center of the room. Again, ignore the giant worm and focus on this new target.



Use Cross magic in conjunction with whip combo attacks to finish off the monster. The worm floats around the screen and breathes fire to disrupt your attacks, so be prepared for them.

Dark Palace Of Waterfalls

On B1F, there is east passage with a dead end. Wait at that dead end for a Heavy Armor to appear—when he does, stand with your back to the obstructed passageway. Armor should swing his ball hard enough to punch a hole in the wall.

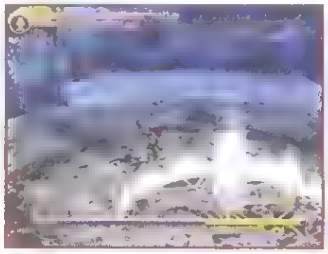


Enter the hole Armor creates and follow the passage south. After some fancy platform hopping, you should arrive at a flaming green door.

Frost Elemental

You can make quick work of the Frost Elemental if you have the Whip of Flame and the Arctic Ring. Frost has a few projectile attacks, including flying ice spikes and a freezer ray. Use the Quick Step to dodge these attacks; if you try to block, you will be hit by the next successive attack

Frost's other attack is to stab and slash you. Using the Quick Step, dodge any incoming slashes, and then counterattack with a combo



One final attack to be aware of is Frost's Paralysis attack. When you see a white ring that radiates from Ice, jump over it. If you get hit by the ring, you'll be paralyzed, and Frost will strike you repeatedly in your helpless state

Joachim

The battle with Joachim takes place in B1F.

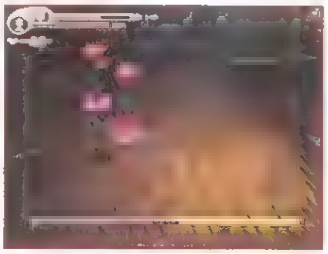
To survive this battle, you must destroy three blue spheres in as many corners of the room before you can damage Joachim. Once the spheres are destroyed, hammer away at Joachim with combo attacks

However, it's only a matter of time before three more blue spheres appear and you must repeat the process all over again. One thing that weighs in your favor during this fight is that you can see Joachim's attacks coming a mile away and block them accordingly

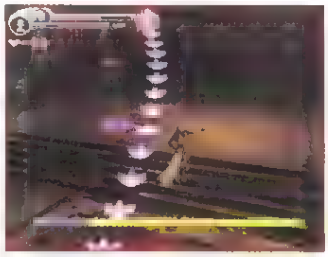
The Ghostly Theatre

The Succubus is found on 1F, and she's one of the tougher bosses in the game.

Succubus



The key to defeating the Succubus is to stay close to her and relentlessly use combo attacks. Throughout the fight, large roses grow from the floor and can inflict poison status if touched. A single snap of the whip can get rid of the pesky plants.



Succubus has two projectiles: When she glows purple, she's about to launch a single stream of blades at you, if she glows green, she'll launch green blades in three directions These attacks can be blocked.

One of the Succubus' most obnoxious attacks is a whirlwind that's difficult to block. However, if you see it coming from a distance, you can outrun the storm and be ready to hit the Succubus with a combo attack when she finishes spinning

When the Succubus's life meter is in the yellow, she fires lightning into the ground, summoning a giant thorny root for several consecutive attacks. Don't try Quick Stepping past these roots just block them.

One other dirty trick the Succubus has up her sleeve is to make two clones of herself. If you hit the real Succubus and not a clone, she'll take damage and the clones will disappear; if you hit a clone, you'll be hit by a paralyzing lightning bolt and the Succubus will suck some of your life away and add it to her own. You can avoid the paralyzing lightning bolt, but only if you're prepared to Quick Step out of its way immediately after you strike one of the Succubus's images.

Castle Entrance

Forgotten One

Once you find the Unlock Jewel hidden away in Pagoda of the Misty Moon 2F, you can open the sealed door on B1F of the Castle Entrance Forgotten One resides in the aptly named Prison of Eternal Torture in B2F. If you decide to fight him/it/whatever, be sure to have the Knife as a Sub-Weapon

The boss attacks in three stages, and you fight him from the ground up. The first is the easiest to defeat—simply stand underneath the monster's rotting entrails and rapidly perform jump slashes. Your objective is to destroy the rotting lunglike tissue around the Forgotten one's heart, then destroy the heart itself.

Beware of the maggots that fall to the ground as you slash away—although they appear harmless, they can inflict Curse status. Also be careful of the Forgotten One's blood because it inflicts Poison status on Leon if it touches him.

In the second round, things get tougher. Your primary target is the Forgotten One's left hand, which is his primary method of attack. The best time to inflict damage is when the hand is suspended in midair—when it is, double-jump next to it and execute an A Extension 2 attack. Another opportunity to inflict some damage is after the Forgotten One slams his hand on the ground. Again, be aware of the monster's blood, because it inflicts Poison status.

The final battle with the Forgotten One is against its head, and this is where the Knife plays a key role. To start, the Forgotten One roars and makes rocks drop from the ceiling—some rocks fall through the floor, while others remain on the ledge. Dodge the falling debris and use the boulders as cover from the monster's other attack, a powerful fire blast

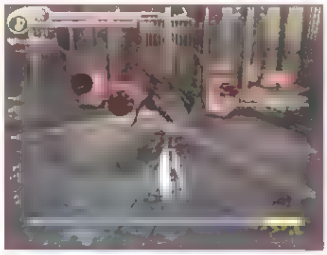
When the monster stops spewing fire, launch a Magic Missile attack at it. Don't stay behind the same boulder for cover, however—make sure and move behind a different one after each round of flaming breath. If you have enough Hearts and Heart Repair items, you should be the last man standing at the end of the fight.

Pagoda of the Misty Moon

Before taking on Walter and Death, you may want to max out your Potions and Hi-Potions, and collect some of the health items that are dropped by various monsters (see the Encyclopedia section of this ProStrategy Guide). The final battle takes place on 2F; Walter is behind the door that is locked by the Dragon Crest. Make sure Vampire Killer is equipped as your Whip. You may also want to use Saisei Incense as your Relic.

Walter

When the fight begins, smack Walter once. After a brief cinema, the real battle starts.



If you get in close to Walter, he'll either punch you or send out three red meteors that explode in succession. The best way to defeat Walter is to pace yourself and use Attack-small to see if he's vulnerable

If you hit Walter with a single Attack-small and he doesn't flinch, get away from him and wait for his counterattack.

If Walter recoils when you hit him, immediately follow up with a combo attack—preferably a Vertical High-Rising Shot-Energy Blast Skill combination.

When Walter's life meter turns yellow, he summons typhoons from the floor. When you see blue swirls appear on the floor, keep moving as they fully form where you're standing.

The deadliest attack at Walter's disposal is prefaced when he says, "Behold my friend—now this is power!" Afterward, he sends out a huge, dome-shaped flame that gets bigger as it travels across the screen. Unless you're really confident in your abilities to execute a Perfect Guard, run away from the approaching flames—they eventually dissipate. Getting hit by the blast costs you more than 100 HP. He's usually standing near the throne when he launches this attack.

Death

At the start of the battle, equip the Invincibility Jar as your Relic, and make the Sacrificial Doll one of your Accessories. Death has a plethora of devastating attacks, and you're going to go through a lot of Items. The fight takes place on a giant circular platform with Death hovering around the edges.

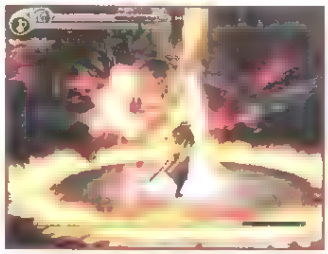
When Death says, "Die!" he's readying several blasts of energy that all come together as they strike. The only ways to stop this attack is with a Perfect Guard or a carefully timed Quick Step; if the attack hits, you'll be pushed far across the screen.

When Death says, "Minions!" get in close to him and repeatedly perform the Sonic Edge Skill. Not only does this inflict damage on Death, but it keeps several slowly approaching floating skulls away from you. If the skulls get too close, they will explode and send you flying across the screen.

When Death spins his scythe over his head, he's getting ready to throw it at you. Guard the weapon when it first hits and then immediately Quick Step toward the direction it came from

Once Death's life bar turns completely yellow, he unleashes his nastiest (and cheapest) attack yet, Deadly Tempest. After Death says those words, he launches a fireball in the air that comes down with a couple waves of fire.



You can jump the fire waves or use Invincibility magic and attack Death with A Extens on attacks. Turn Invincibility off as soon as the fire dissipates in order to preserve your MP.

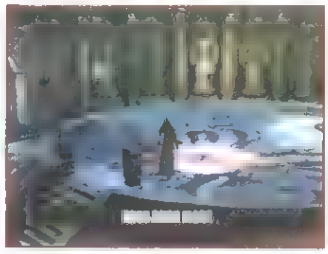
Rewards

Music Box

You can purchase the Music Box from Rinaldo in the early hours of the game. Once you've purchased the item, save the game.

Reset the PlayStation 2 with the memory card in the unit, and at the title screen, you can find a Sound Test option underneath Options. In the Sound Test menu you can hear music from the game.

Boss Rush Mode



Defeat all regular (Golem, Medusa, Undead Parasite, Joachim, Succubus, Walter, and Death) and hidden (Flame Elemental, Thunder Elemental, Undead Parasite, Ice Elemental, Forgotten One, Walter, and Death) bosses in the game and save the data to a memory card. At the title screen, select Continue, and at the Load/Select Data screen, load the saved data (it should have a star in the upper right corner of the saved data description). Return to the "hub" room on Castle Entrance 1F, and a new portal appears, Boss Rush Mode. If you enter the portal, you'll consecutively fight every regular and hidden boss in the game

You get nothing for beating Boss Rush Mode—it's only a contest to see how fast you can defeat all the bosses in the game

Joachim Mode

Finish the game and save the data to a memory card. With that memory card in your PlayStation 2, start a new game and enter either of the following names to activate these cheats:

Play Joachim Mode: @JOACHIM
Play Crazy Mode: @CRAZY

Rampage Missions

After picking up this skull icon, you are granted a two-minute time limit and an objective. In the majority of Rampage missions, you must use a provided weapon to meet a kill quota. Other Rampage missions require that you use a particular tactic, such as drive-bys or hit-and-runs

There's no penalty for botching a Rampage mission, and failed missions can be tried again. Just take care not to attract a high Wanted Level, or the cops could jeopardize your chance for success.

R1 Location: Use a boat or skimmer to reach the dock in the ocean

Objective: Destroy 10 boats in two minutes with the rocket launcher

R2 Location: Near the lighthouse in Ocean Beach.

Objective: Kill 30 gang members in two minutes with Molotov cocktails, but throw them from a distance

R3 Location: Drive a sturdy vehicle to the shoreline of Ocean Beach.

Objective: Run over 30 gang members in two minutes with any vehicle.

R4 Location: Go to the roof of the parking lot covered in vines, then stand on the ramp and inch off.

Objective: Kill 25 gang members in two minutes with the PSG-1.

R5 Location: Hidden between two houses in Ocean Beach.

Objective: Kill 10 gang members in two minutes with the katana.

R6 Location: Across the street from Raphael's clothes shop.

Objective: Kill 20 gang members in two minutes with the chainsaw (try running into groups of enemies).

R7 Location: Easily found on the steps of the Ocean View Medical R&D building.

Objective: Kill 25 gang members in two minutes with the M4; use manual aiming (press and hold R1).

R8 Location: On the rooftop of Washington Mall.

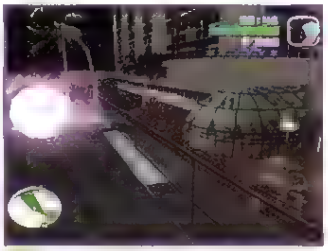
Objective: Kill 25 gang members in two minutes with the shotgun (drop into the mall for ample targets).

R9 Location: Look for the orange building with a pool.

Objective: Kill 25 gang members in two minutes with the MP5.

R10 Location: Behind the large tan hotel in Ocean Beach.

Objective: Kill 30 gang members in two minutes using the Spas-12 shotgun.



R11 Location: On top of the highest diving board.

Objective: Kill 10 gang members in two minutes with the PSG-1 (snipe from the diving board).

R12 Location: Easily found on the grassy lawn.

Objective: Kill 35 gang members in two minutes using drive-by shooting with the Ingram MAC 10.

R13 Location: On the dock under the bridge

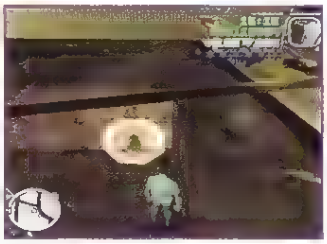
Hidden Packages



Finding Hidden Packages increases your overall Asset percentage, and you get secret surprises for every 10 that you locate. The locations of all the packages are represented by numbers (1–100) on the map for this ProStrategy Guide. Here are some tips for finding some of the trickiest Hidden Packages.

Hidden Package 1

You need a boat to reach this Hidden Package. From the south tip of Ocean Beach, head south into open waters. You'll eventually see the twisted remains of an old wooden dock. Exit your boat (tap △) and carefully jump onto the dock. The Hidden Package is on the top level.

Hidden Package 2

The second Hidden Package is located close to the first—look for a large cluster of rocks. The Hidden Package is located on the south side of one of the larger rocks.

Hidden Package 8

Head for the spiral parking garage in Ocean Beach. You can reach this Hidden Package by using the PCJ-600 to jump from the top of the parking garage to the building next to the Hidden Package. The easiest way is to land on the roof with a helicopter—find one at the Hyman Condo or on the roof of the Vercetti Estate.

Hidden Package 13

You must use a helicopter to reach this Hidden Package. It's located on the roof of the building south of the Washington Beach police station—the building is tan with blue trim.

Hidden Package 15

Located within the Washington Beach police station. If you have the police disguise, you can slip into the restricted area upstairs undetected. Without the disguise, you face a two-star Wanted Level and some angry cops. The package is in the office across from the stairs.

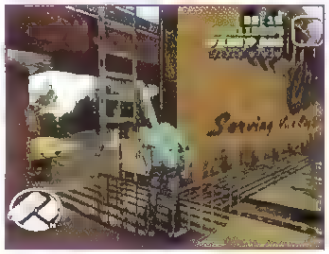
Hidden Package 20

This Hidden Package requires only fancy footwork. Head to the construction site where you used to receive missions from Avary Carrington. Use the wooden boards to ascend to the third floor. The Hidden Package is located at the end of this beam—use the analog stick to carefully inch your way to it.

Hidden Package 67

Search the rooftops near Kaufman Cabs to find this Hidden Package—look for a Sparrow helicopter resting on a neighboring rooftop.

Hidden Package 75



Look for this Hidden Package on the catwalk in front of the big Kaufman Cabs billboard in Little Havana; a PSG-1 is located to the right of the catwalk.

Hidden Package 84

You need a helicopter to reach the ship in the southwestern section of Viceport. Be extremely careful when landing your helicopter at this location; otherwise, you have no way of leaving the boat.

Hidden Package 96

Thanks to the strange architecture, landing the helicopter on the roof of the Escobar International Airport terminal is no easy task. Look for the Hidden Package on the west side of the rooftop. CV

Be Careful What You Wish For...

Ever had something on your holiday wish list that you were so excited for that you forgot to sleep for weeks, only to find that your hopes had been squashed by a vague list and parents who just didn't ask the right questions? Well, as everyone knows, December is Buyer's Guide Month, and in a misguided attempt to be helpful, Code Vault presents its Holiday Un-Buyer's Guide, a list of the Top Five possible wish-list mistakes and how to avoid disaster. Pay attention, folks: Your holiday well-being could count on it.

There are some individuals who would prefer that we not publish a game like Go! Go! Hypergrind.

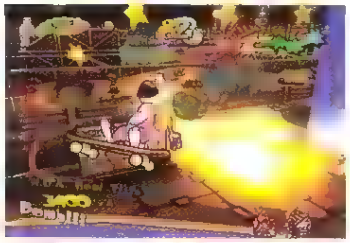
Let them vent.

"Do you like skating? If you do then Go! Go! Hypergrind should rocket to the top of your "Must buy" list. You won't be disappointed."
- Nintendophiles

"Go! Go! Hypergrind is fast, fun, kooky, and it looks great."
- IGN.com

Skate as one of 12 crazy, cool characters designed by SPUMCO, the world-famous animation studio responsible for The Ren & Stimpy Show and The Ripping Friends.

Compete in a variety of head-to-head multiplayer modes such as Push, Race and Battle.



Use the "Negative Reaction" system to score insane points and begin your rise to stardom. Chain multiple Negative Reactions together with normal tricks for insane combination points!

Powerful graphics engine allows for real-time character deformation. The wacky cel-shaded skateboarders can be subjected to numerous humiliations, such as being set on fire, flattened and covered in coco!

"...your ticket to many nights of great gaming."

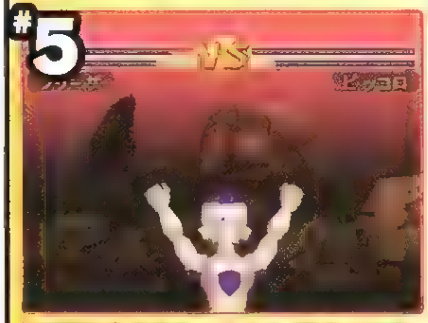
Holiday Un-Buyer's Guide



It might make baby puppies cry with its crappiness, but hey, it could make you rich!

You Asked For: Dragon Ball Z: Budokai 2 (PS2). The latest adventures of Goku, Trunks, Buu, Vegeta, Ernest, Wilco, and Sally-Bob make previous DBZ games look like, well, previous DBZ games. It's possible this Budokai sequel could bring the franchise out of its reputation of being gaming's version of the Police Academy series.

You Got: Dragon Ball GT Final Bout (PlayStation). Any other human being on Earth would be disappointed to get this title, which features DBZ characters fighting each other while you fight the controls and utter lack of enjoyment. Hey, if you get this, don't fret: You can sell it online for hundreds of dollars and become a...hundredaire!

Your Top Five

Here's one Holiday Un-Buyer's Guide provided by your fellow reader, Jared Parkinson of Fayetteville, North Carolina:

5. BMX XXX (PS2, Xbox, GameCube): It had topless girls and still sucked. That takes dedication beyond that of mortal men.
4. Trouble (board game): Yeah, the board game. That pop-o-matic bubble is just freaky. The dice want to be free!
3. Postal 2 (PC): If you're going to make a controversial game, at least make it good enough to play.
2. Wrestling Games (any system): All of them. If I wanted to see half-naked people hitting each other with chairs, I'd go to my family reunion.
1. Fur Fighters: Viggo's Revenge (PS2): My mom got me this game for my birthday instead of Splinter Cell. I got so mad I kicked the wall and broke my ankle.

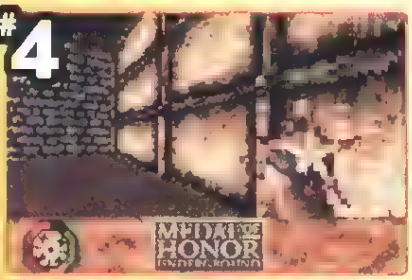
#4



The soldier's pixels are so huge, I could have shot him in the dark.

You Asked For: Medal of Honor: Frontline (PS2, Xbox, GameCube). Frontline is the first console installment of EA's definitive World War II FPS series and the last one to be developed by the "dream team," who went to work on Call of Duty for Activision. What a game! What an experience!

You Got: Medal of Honor: Underground (GBA). A paternity test is definitely in order. Like many GBA "conversions" of excellent games, this GBA "conversion" of EA's definitive World War II FPS series bears little resemblance to its console daddy. Who in tarnation actually thought first-person shooters on a GBA was a good idea, anyway?

RAYMAN 2 REVOLUTION

Vapor Trails: Tenth Degree

[illegible] x Super x Super x Super x Super x Super x Super x Super x Super x Super = HEAD EXPLODES!

In the latter half of the 1990s, Atari needed a hit in the arcade. Fighting games were all the rage—Soul Calibur, Tekken 3, Mortal Kombat 4, Rival Schools, Street Fighter Alpha 3, and Pocket Fighter would all earn tons of quarters within two years—but Atari was left without an entry, so it was time to cash in. Tenth Degree was supposed to be that entry, promising the comfortable game mechanics of a 2D game with the visual flair and panache of a 3D arena. A few prototypes were created, and the gameplay was reportedly up to snuff, but with so much competition, Atari was afraid it would never stand out, so the game was killed (Code Vault's sister pub, GamePro, previewed the game in its October 1998 issue). If you're lucky, you might find a prototype at a coin-op collector's show....

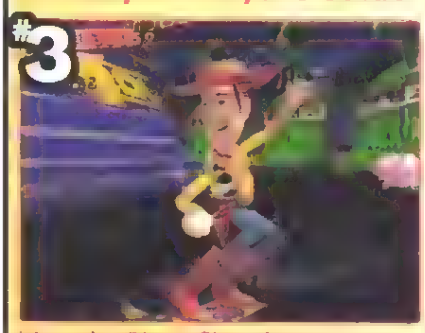
Holiday Un-Buyer's Guide



It has such well-known Disney characters as um... that monkey in The Lion King and...well, that other monkey in Tarzan. Probably some other monkeys, too

You Asked For: Tony Hawk's Underground (PS2, Xbox, GameCube). Yeah, it's another Tony Hawk game, but the new career mode looks pretty exciting, and hey, you can put your own face on your character in the PS2 version. It looks like a game that could revive this slowly aging franchise.

You Got: Disney's Extreme Skating Adventure (PS2, Xbox, GameCube). Uh-oh. You probably don't have to be told what went wrong here. It's skateboarding, sure—it's even got the Tony Hawk 4 engine. But tell your friends you just went rail grindin' with Woody and you might have to come up with your own toy story.

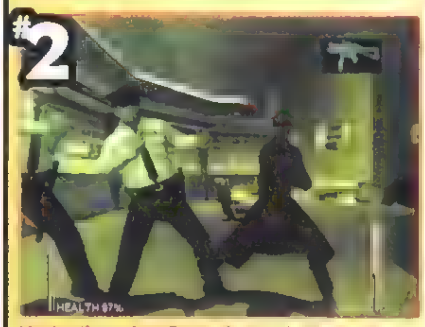
Holiday Un-Buyer's Guide #2



Maybe if you kiss Persephone, she'll take the pain away

You Asked For: Enter the Matrix (PS2, Xbox, GameCube). You liked the original film (who didn't?), and you thought the sequel was cool enough, so how could you go wrong with the game based on the sequel and written by the Wachowski brothers themselves?

You Got: Enter the Matrix (PS2, Xbox, GameCube). With all the hype and coolness surrounding the release of this title, the resulting rushed, buggy, unplayable lump of coal still managed to sell millions of copies. Far from the fantastic revolution in Hollywood/gaming collaboration, the game came out as a half-baked piece of software whose sales are in danger of setting a bad precedent in the "Why do licensed games suck?" situation.

But I Don't Want That!

Just because a product exists doesn't mean it's something you want for the holidays. Some products are so odd, out there, or simply painful that only the most insane or hard-core gamers would even search for the price tag on the box. For example: The Activator. Nothing turns off many gamers more than the idea of getting exercise, so it's no surprise that this Sega Genesis peripheral never caught on. You were supposed to stand inside this octagonal ring while it lay on the floor and play your games by passing your hands and feet through sensor areas above the ring. Of course, it worked about as well as a solar-powered flashlight, so all that damn exercise was for naught.

"I feel sicker now."

You Asked For: Any PlayStation 2 Game. If you have a PS2, you'd be forgiven for asking for a PS2 game for the holidays. The system is getting steadily older, but it's running strong, even as it shows its limits next to the Xbox and GameCube. There are a lot of titles out there, so chances are you'll get a good one.

You Got: Lara Croft Tomb Raider: The Angel of Darkness. Actually, chances are you'll get this one, possibly the highest-profile PS2 game to ever flop like a pancake hurled by a trebuchet. Possibly one of the most visible titles on used games shelves, the hype and low price might conspire to get this title into your home.

Yar's Revenge

▪Atari 2600▪Programmed by Howard Scott Warshaw▪Published by Atari ▪Shooting▪2 players▪Controller: Joystick

Verily pecking away at a constantly moving orange barrier to get to the creamy goodness that lies behind it in the form of a malevolent alien life form isn't the most novel gameplay concept. But Yar's Revenge provides due to tight, frantic gameplay and some massively heavy sound design. The constant industrial droning loops will smash the ground out from under you. Combining rocking explosions and synapse-snapping visual effects, Yar's Revenge is an auditory and visual journey that can get damned near transcendent.

Please Wait...

But I Don't Want That!

It seems like game hardware companies can't make really big mistakes with all the market research and brilliant minds behind every release. Still, sometimes even the best running back in the NFL drops the ball. That's why it's fashionable to make fun of the Virtual Boy, Nintendo's poorly conceived 32-bit 3D visor machine. Advertised as a "portable" machine, the Virtual Boy was responsible for more strained necks than that Vulcan lady on Enterprise. You place the machine on top of its wire-thin support structure and peer into the goggles to be presented with primitive red vector graphics that managed, oddly enough, to actually be in 3D. Despite the novelty, you could find mountains of these things in game stores for $29.99 not long after they launched.

Oh look! It's in 3D! What's happening to my eyes?!!?

WORLD'S SCARIEST POLICE CHASES

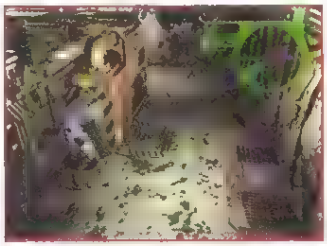
Resident Evil 3: Nemesis

You've fought the Nemesis repeatedly, but it always comes back for more. Now it's time to finish this titanic terror once and for all! By Major Mike

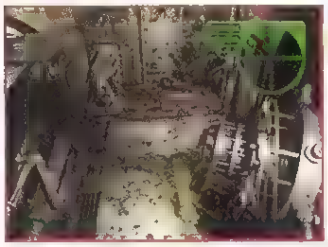
THE END

Fight Nemesis

When you enter the last room in the game, The Dead Factory 1F, examine the panel in the southeast corner.



Go to the battery across from the door that you entered he room through and push it into slot "1."



After the Nemesis appears, run to the northeast corner of the room and push the battery into slot "2."

Then go to the southeast corner of the room and push the battery into slot "3." After you push the third battery, the giant rail cannon located against the east wall starts charging.

So much for the battery, what about the Nemesis? The goal now is to drive the monster into the northwest corner of the room. The only way to drive the Nemesis to the desired location is to hit it as hard as you can with your toughest weapons—the Rocket Launcher, Magnum, and Mine Thrower — until it retreats.

Once the Nemesis crawls into that northwest corner, the rail cannon does the rest. After the battle, head toward the door in the northeast corner of the room.

Regardless of your decision in Live Selection No. 10, go through the door in the northeast corner of the room Operate the elevator controls and take the elevator up to the helicopter. You're outta there!

Epilogue Files

Each time you finish the game using previously saved data, a new Epilogue file is unlocked. There are eight files total: when you finish the game the ninth time, you get the screen in the lower right-hand corner
